

Jonathan W. Hoyle CBE, Vice President, Europe, Lockheed Martin International

Prior to joining Lockheed Martin international as Vice President for Europe and Americas on 3rd February 2014, Jonathan was Director General for Government and Industry Cyber Security. He was a member of the GCHQ Board and the SIRO (Senior Information Risk Owner), responsible for industry engagement, the Information Assurance agenda at GCHQ, the development and delivery of a national IA (Information Assurance) capability in the cyber context.

In May 2009, Jonathan took up a temporary appointment as Director General Commercial at the MOD. Before that he was Chief of Staff in Defence Equipment and Support where he was a member of the Main Board, responsible for governance, performance management, secretariat and strategy.

From November 2004 to January 2008 he was Minister for Defence Materiel at the British Embassy, Washington DC, responsible for all bilateral defence procurement relations and related policy issues, as well as Civilian Secretary responsibilities within the United States. During his time there he led the negotiations on the Defence Co-operation Trade Treaty.

Prior to his appointment in Washington Jonathan was the Director of the Main Building Redevelopment project. He led the negotiations for the PFI contract. The project was a massive logistical exercise involving organising the move of over 3,000 staff and support CIS systems into decant accommodation and subsequent return. Jonathan was also responsible for the design and implementation of a change management programme to prepare staff for the new Head Office Modern Environment.

Prior to taking up that appointment, Jonathan completed an MBA at Cranfield University. Previous MOD experience includes the Private Finance Unit, finance and secretariat responsibility for Eurofighter 2000, Middle East Defence relations and a tour in a junior Minister's office.
