

Patrick J. Cullen, Senior Research Fellow, Norwegian Institute of International Affairs

Mr. Patrick J. Cullen started as senior research fellow at Norwegian Institute of International Affairs on September 2nd, 2013. Dr. Cullen is currently researching a number of international security and defense issues, including US foreign policy in the Asia Pacific, embassy/diplomatic security, and Russian geopolitics.

In 2009, he got a Ph.D. in International Relations, London School of Economics, London, UK. Thesis: "Private Security in International Politics: Deconstructing the State's Monopoly of Security Governance" and in 1999 M.Sc. International Relations, London School of Economics, London, UK.