

BG Eugen MAVRIȘ Head of Training and Doctrine Directorate Defense Staff Romania Brigadier

General Eugen Mavriș graduated from the Military High School in 1986, and the National Defense University in 2001. His PhD thesis, completed in 2008, focused on the transformation of the Romanian Armed Forces. He also completed several courses: the Air Force Staff Officer Course (1994), the NATO Staff Officer (2004), the GBAD units evaluation (2005) and the Joint Strategic Course for superior military leaders (2011). Between 1989 and 1991, he was an air traffic controller on the Air Force Base, and then worked as a military journalist until 1997. Since 2001, he was a Staff Officer operations at the Air Main Operational Command, and then became a Staff Officer in Strategic Planning Directorate, Romanian General Staff. Between 2006 and 2009, he served as a Staff Officer in Romanian Military Representative, SHAPE, Belgium. Between 2009 and 2013, he served as Head of the Transformation Office of the Strategic Planning Directorate, Romanian General Staff. Between 2014 and 2016, he served as Head of the International Organization Branch, and then until 2017 as Head of the Strategic Planning Branch of the Strategic Planning Directorate, Romanian General Staff. In October 2017, he became a Commander, National Military Center of Command. In 2020, he was named Head of Training, Doctrine Directorate