

Bogdan C. Lazaroae

Bogdan Lazaroae is a business transformation leader with experience accumulated over more than three decades working on two continents in governmental, commercial and international organizations. Bogdan was the Director of the NATO Headquarters Project Office and Transition Office, a role to which he was appointed by the NATO Secretary General. He led the office responsible for the delivery of the new NATO HQ, one of the most complex specialized use facilities in Europe spanning over 292,000 sqm with a total project budget of Euro 1.2 billion. Bogdan was also responsible for the multiple transition projects necessary for the policy, procedural and operational transformation and physical relocation to the new NATO headquarters environment. The decade-long project delivered a modern and highly secure campus housing 48 embedded national embassies and NATO civilian and military organizational entities totaling over 4,200 staff. Before joining NATO, Bogdan accumulated over a decade of experience consulting for public and private sector organizations in the United States of America on finance, tax and resource management, as well as business process improvement and systems implementation. He worked for the cities of New York, Houston, Dallas, Austin, Anaheim and Honolulu as well as the Commonwealths of Virginia and Kentucky. Bogdan holds a Master of Business Administration degree from the Simon Graduate School of Business at University of Rochester and an engineering degree from the Polytechnic University Bucharest.
