

Charlotte Freihse, Co-Lead Digitalization and the Common Good, Bertelsmann Stiftung, Germany

For the Bertelsmann Stiftung's "Digitalization and the Common Good" program, Charlotte Freihse conducts research, writes, and speaks as Co-Project Lead on the state and future of the digital public sphere. Her work focuses on developing concrete design proposals for social media platforms as well as recommendations for action on dealing with disinformation for a range of stakeholders. Charlotte Freihse holds a degree in political science and has previously worked for Norddeutscher Rundfunk (NDR), das NETTZ, and the EU research project "NETHATE," among others.