

Krystian Chmielewski

Senior Vice President Kongsberg Defence&Aerospace AS

An economist by profession graduated from the University of Economy in Poznan. Specializes in business development, international trade and affairs. Started his career in the automotive industry (1996-2001). Then worked for the government on Polish accession to the European Union (2001-2004). In 2005 he joined the defense industry responsible for international business development on various positions and companies. He continues until now employed in Norwegian biggest defence and aerospace company Kongsberg Group. Currently responsible for business development in Europe. Born in Poland, wife, two children.